Details of the course proposed:

- Name of the course:
ADVANCED CERTIFICATE COURSE IN BEHAVIOURAL NEUROSCIENCE
- Background: This course provides an introduction to how we uniquely sense and perceive our world to construct our own internal psychological experience with major emphasis on brain-behavior interrelation. The subject explores how we learn, think, remember, and operate within our constructed worlds; and explains the neural mechanisms underlying psychological processes and experiences. This course will deal with 04 major areas: Human Psychology, Developmental Psychology, Cognitive Psychology and Biological Psychology.
- Objectives:
 1. To understand the nervous system and endocrine system of human being
 2. To study biological correlates of one's overt behavior and internal mental processes
 3. To understand the biological perspective of personality and psychopathology
 4. To know about various methods of brain mapping and altering brain functions
- Scope:

Any kind of human behavior is complex result external stimuli/s and internal psychological processes. The major role of biological predispositions cannot be negated as it is the foundation of one's perception of the outer world and reaction to the same. Thus, biological systems play important role in determining human behavior.

Presently, human psychology is gaining wide popularity and everyone interested in working with/for people wish to study human behavior. Secondly, university syllabus for Psychology or Social Work does not offer the understanding of biological basis of human behavior in detail.

With this respect, every professional dealing with human psychology, extending psychological counseling to individuals in crisis, offering mediation or intervention, handling adolescent issues, addressing students needs or helping peoples in one or the other way ^{should} definitely ~~be~~ know about the biological foundation of human behavior. Hence, this certificate course will surely fill in the gap in available sources of knowledge regarding human behavior and will imbibe the holistic approach to handle various psychological issues.

Details of the course proposed:

Name of the course: Certificate Course in Digital Marketing

Background: The core of this sort of marketing is the internet. The internet, as it is, is a potent tool to help us achieve a lot. It helps in marketing as well as it assists sellers in promoting their products across the across. Advertisements on various forms of social media and other sites, emails, and YouTube can be used by organizations to sell their products.

Traditional marketing's high costs make it almost impossible for small scale businesses or startups to compete with the business giants in the market. With low budgets, Small scale businesses are left with no option other than digital marketing. In comparison, traditional marketing costs about ten times than digital marketing. Email marketing, content writing, Search Engine Optimization, and social media marketing are the magic wands of digital marketing for small scale businesses. Some other marketing tools include Pay-per-click (PPC), display, and social media Ads.

Objectives: To acquaint the students with:

- 1) To create basic internet skills can manage basic social media marketing like making company profiles.

Details of the course proposed:

Name of the course: Certificate Course in Digital Marketing

Background: The core of this sort of marketing is the internet. The internet, as it is, is a potent tool to help us achieve a lot. It helps in marketing as well as it assists sellers in promoting their products across the across. Advertisements on various forms of social media and other sites, emails, and YouTube can be used by organizations to sell their products.

Traditional marketing's high costs make it almost impossible for small scale businesses or startups to compete with the business giants in the market. With low budgets, Small scale businesses are left with no option other than digital marketing. In comparison, traditional marketing costs about ten times than digital marketing. Email marketing, content writing, Search Engine Optimization, and social media marketing are the magic wands of digital marketing for small scale businesses. Some other marketing tools include Pay-per-click (PPC), display, and social media Ads.

Objectives: To acquaint the students with:

- 1) To create basic internet skills can manage basic social media marketing like making company profiles.

Details of the course proposed:

Name of the course: Certificate Course in Importance of Sanskrit language constructs in Computer Science.

Background:

As we all know, the (Stored-program Electronic Digital) Computer is an algorithmic machine. The three adjectives shown in brackets are often unpronounced while naming this system. The 'Stored-program' or the software part of this digital computer system is based on the binary encoded version of the corresponding set of suitably arranged algorithms. A systematic Developer follows the standard design cycle viz.

Algorithm=> Flowchart => Coding=> App=> Testing, in order to create an optimal program (or an App) for a given task. Thus a User in the cyber world or Digital India indirectly invokes some algorithm while tapping various services via Apps!

The course depicts certain equivalents of Algorithms appearing through classical Sanskrit texts.

After explaining the Classical Sanskrit words connoting the (modern acronym) word Algorithm, the course presents a number of classical Sanskrit algorithms (संस्कृत-अल्गोरिदिस) with lucid illustrative examples. Their corresponding Modern English languages Equivalents are also tabulated. Students, researchers, faculty members from any branch find this general/popular presentation interesting & useful. The topic forms an integral part of the subject सङ्गणकीय-संस्कृतम्, depicting the importance of Sanskrit constructs the wider fields of Computer Science.

Chairman AICTE, Dr. A. D. Sahasrabudhe has recommended that this course is very important & useful for Engineering & Computer Science in Institutions.

Objectives: To acquaint the students with:

1. Sanskrit references to Positional Decimal Number System & Numerical procedures
2. The Algorithmic nature of modern Digital Computer & useful Sanskrit Algorithms
3. Scientific nature of the classical language Sanskrit & its importance in the wider fields of modern computer science.

Duration: 30 Hrs

etn Evaluation: Total 100 marks (50 Marks online Objective Written Test at the end of the course + 50 marks for Unit Test/ evaluation)

Expected Course Outcome:

After completion of the course the students should be able to:

1. Understand the scientific importance of the classical language Sanskrit.
2. Interpret the Sanskrit references to Decimal & Binary Positional Number Systems
3. Compare the Sanskrit Algorithms & their modern equivalents
4. Work as a Developer by following the standard design cycle viz.

Details of the Course Proposed.

Name of the Course :- Application of Open Access E- Resources.

Background :- Higher education system has grown exponentially in the last five decades and e-resources have become an inseparable part of this educational system. E-resources have a prominent role to play in supporting higher education and in fulfilling educational objectives. E-resources are rich source of information for those students who want extra learning materials in addition to their regular classroom activities. There are a number of e-books, reference books, e-journals, inter-linked hypertext documents, online help centres, expert's views and other study-oriented material that can make the learning process very easy. Furthermore, the cloud computing has made it possible for students and researchers to always keep their data with them. The use of e-resources in higher education lends itself to more student-centred learning settings. It, however, creates some tensions among parents and teachers. With the world moving rapidly into digital media and information, the role of e-resources in higher education is becoming more and more important and its importance will continue to grow and develop in the 21st century. Thus, this certificate course aims to examine the advantages of e-resources in higher education and to identify the various concerns related to e-resources.

E-resources are increasingly important to all aspects of education – from teaching and learning, through to the collection of student data, administration and marketing activities those institutions engage in. For this research e-resources are defined in the broadest sense and includes Virtual Learning Environments (VLEs), platforms, research software, and other e-resources (such as the use of Web 2.0 technologies, social networking technologies, mobile phones or Audio Visual technologies) as they relate to systems used to aid learning, teaching, administration or management.

E-resources have a prominent role to play in supporting higher education and in fulfilling educational objectives. E-resources are rich source of information for those students who want extra learning materials in addition to their regular classroom activities. E-resources represent many challenges at every level of their selection, acquisition, preservation, maintenance and management as discussed in this above article. At the same time, these resources have also come with many advantages giving solution to many professional problems like solution to space problem, providing remote access, convenience in use, increased readership with improved services, leading to more opportunities for productive research output and academic excellence within short time. Recent studies have also proved that in researchers' opinion, improved access to e-resources have positively influenced their research activities by helping them to keep up-to-date and by saving time.

With the rapid development of electronic publishing, libraries are not only acquiring reading materials such as printed books and journals but also arranging for providing access to various learning resources in electronic form. The web resources and the use of web as a tool is changing the way users live and learn. E-Resources focus on the various aspects. Digital technology has made it more easy, speedy and comfortable to apply the stored intellect. The advent of technology has made the libraries to add new things to its collection. Print sources are more digitalized. E-resources information sources are very important for the academic community. Paper presentation an overview of these resources few advantages and some disadvantages and address of few web sites. This collected information through the
